

Nevins Memorial Library

Growing Community

TEN BOOKS To Learn About Colors

"Monsters Love Colors"
By Mike Austin
J-ER AUS

Monsters love colors. And more than that, they like making new colors. They make each monster a different color, mix new ones together, and in the end they create a rainbow.

"Freight Train"
By Donald Crews
J-ER CRE

Learn about colors in this train-themed picture book. A train with a rainbow of colors whizzes its way through city and town in this Caldecott Honor Book.

"The Day the Crayons Quit"
By Drew Daywalt
J-ER DAY

Duncan just wants to color, but in place of his crayons he finds letters written to him. The crayons have some grievances and Duncan has to solve their problems if he wants them back.

"Planting a Rainbow"
By Lois Ehlert
J-ER EHL

A mother and child plant a rainbow of flowers every year. Explore the colors of the rainbow and the plants they make beautiful.

"A Color of His Own"
By Leo Lionni
J-ER LIO

A chameleon is discouraged that he changes all the time and does not have a consistent color. He wants a color all his own and in finding a friend to match colors with he finds happiness.

"Brown Bear, Brown Bear,
What Do You See?"
By Bill Martin Jr.
J-ER MAR

In this classic book illustrated by Eric Carle, fantastically colored animals look around. All of the animals and their colors are named in review.

"Red is a Dragon"
By Roseanne Thong
J-ER THO

A young Chinese girl talks about the colors of the objects she finds around her home and neighborhood. Cultural glossary included.

"Mix It Up!"
By Herve Tullet
J-ER TUL

This is an interactive book designed for the child to take initiative in the mixing of the paint colors displayed on the page. The child takes action and on the next page the result is shown.

"Bear Sees Colors"
By Karma Wilson
J-ER WIL

Bear and mouse set out on an adventure, running into many of their friends and many colors along the way. You can point them out too!

"Baby Bear Sees Blue"
By Ashley Wolff
J-ER WOL

A baby bear sees all sorts of colors for the first time. He leaves the den with his mother and she tells him about all of the beautiful things that he is seeing. The colors are named as he discovers them.