

Nevins Memorial Library

Growing Community

Ten Sports Books Now I Can Read!

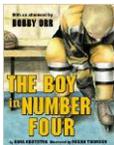

“Players in Pigtails”
By Shana Corey
J ER COR

Shana Corey’s fictionalized main character relates the true story of the formation of the American Girls Professional Baseball League. Learn about how girls made their way into America’s favorite pastime.

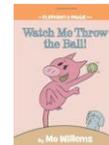

“Sports Dream”
By Paul Orshoski
J ER ORS ABC

A young boy imagines that he is the best at every single sport: baseball, basketball, hockey, soccer, and much else that you could imagine. One thing is for sure though, he is the best at being a sports fan.

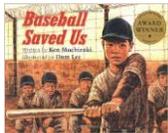

“The Boy in Number Four”
By Kara Kootstra
J ER KOO

For fans of the Bruins, get a glimpse into the committed start of Bobby Orr. The player who led us to two Stanley Cup victories always worked hard.

“Watch Me Throw the Ball”
By Mo Willems
J ER WIL ABC

Those who know Gerald and Piggie know that they are the best of friends. When Gerald tries to show Piggie that ball-throwing is serious, will he listen?

“Baseball Saved Us”
By Ken Mochizuki
J ER MOC

Against the backdrop of a WWII Japanese internment camp, a young boy and his father build a baseball diamond. The result is boosted self-respect among all.

“Everyone Plays Sports”
By Amy Popalis
J 796 POP

Poplis explains the different sports that people play all over the world. With a controlled vocabulary and world maps, young readers will learn much.

“Splashdance”
By Liz Starin
J ER STA

Ursula, a bear, and her human companion are going to win the water ballet competition! Until a new regulation at the pool says, “No Bears.” Can Ursula make sure that everyone is welcome once more?

“Sport-o-rama”
By Benoit Tardif
J 796 TAR

Each double-spread highlights one sport and the many essential terms needed for understanding it. From badminton to football, learn about how sports are played, what athletes wear, and the equipment.

“Cork and Fuzz: Good Sports”
By Dori Chaconas
J ER CHA ABC

Cork is a muskrat who likes to win. Fuzz is a possum who likes to win. These best friends both like to win, so what will happen when they play competitively? Can each be a good sport?

“Teammates”
By Tiki and Ronde Barber
J 796.332 BAR / J 92 BARBER, T & R

Tiki and Ronde Barber, real-life pro-football players and brothers, played as teammates for the Cave Spring Vikings as kids. Inspired by Coach Mike, the two hold secret practices in order to get better.